Dear Friends,

We've had quite a lot going on at Munley Law in the last six months! Thanks for letting us share with you. In this letter, you'll find our latest updates, photos, videos, and news articles covering everything from changing laws on our highways, to college campus sexual assault. Our team has been working hard, speaking up, and giving back.

As summer approaches, so does the possibility for car accidents, boating accidents, motorcycle crashes, and dog bites. We'll be ready. If you need help, or just need answers, call the team of experienced attorneys at Munley Law.

$3.8 million settlement reached for victim of tractor trailer crash

On Friday, October 24, a $3.8 million settlement was reached weeks before it was scheduled to be tried in a Lackawanna County court. Kyle Kelly filed suit against two trucking companies and their drivers following a crash that occurred in July of 2010, in the southbound lanes of Interstate 380 near the Pocono Pines exit. Kelly alleged that both drivers and their companies were negligent.

Kelly, then 23, was traveling home from work on Interstate 380 southbound at around 3:30 a.m. when his vehicle was struck by a tractor trailer owned by Proud 2 Haul and operated by Isabel Lopez. While traveling in the northbound lane of Interstate 380, Lopez took his eyes off the road to look for a lost apple. He then lost control of his tractor trailer, crossed the median, and struck Kelly in the southbound lane. Kelly was disabled in the right lane of the roadway when he was hit again by another tractor trailer traveling at 67 mph, this time operated by John Bonyea and owned by Leonard's Transportation. Upon collision, Kelly's vehicle burst into flames.

Kelly sustained serious and permanent injuries.

He was represented by attorneys Marion Munley, Caroline Munley, and Julia Munley of Munley Law.

Immediately after your tractor trailer truck accident, you need a lawyer who will:

- » Protect your rights
- » Investigate and preserve critical evidence which may be destroyed or altered by the trucking company
- » Help you get your medical bills and lost wages paid
- » Give you advice about coping with the aftermath of an accident
